Re: City Manager Budget Message REVISED for Common Council Preliminary Budget, Subject to Public Hearing on November 9, 2020

Dear Mayor and Members of the Council:

First, I want to thank the Common Council for appointing me City Manager and giving me the chance to serve and contribute to the wonderful City of Peekskill. This is the first budget that I have presented as City Manager, although I have been involved in municipal budget processes for many years.

Comptroller Ann Scaglione coordinated this budget process, and her professionalism, financial acumen, care and dedication are evident throughout. This is her last budget for the City as she is taking a new job, and will be sorely missed. I want to also thank the City's leadership team of department heads who collaborated on this budget, bringing their deep operational experience, suggestions for efficiencies, and concern for the long term interests of both employees and residents. In turn, the department heads rely on dedicated staff who do so much important work to keep Peekskill running. Finally, the City Council has done its job of providing critical feedback and making the changes it deems necessary and in the public interest. This is a year of very tough choices for public officials.

Overview:

The COVID-19 pandemic shut down and restricted business activities has created an unprecedented financial crisis for Peekskill's city operations, just as it has hit families and businesses, reducing revenues and boosting expenses. City leadership took action to cut spending in 2020 by over $1 million and appropriate $500,000 from the City's fund balance to balance the budget. Going into 2021, it was determined no more than $1 million in fund balance should be used, and all department heads were challenged to find 10% cost reductions, achieved largely through elimination of overtime and defunding of vacant positions. Given these conditions, especially the loss of some $450,000 in New York State aid for 2021 and projected parking revenues down $600,000 for a total revenue loss across all revenue lines of $1,120,000 from pre-pandemic averages, the City Council has no choice but to consider adopting a 2021 budget that increases the tax levy beyond what the state tax cap rule allows without an additional public hearing process. Despite a wide range of cost-cutting measures, services for residents will remain intact.

Budget Approval Process Summary

The budget is both a fiscal and operational plan for supporting essential services to city residents, businesses and visitors in both the near- and long term. Overall, the City's budget process begins in the summer when the department heads formulate their budgets for City Manager review. For 2021, department heads were given a goal of planning a 10% expense reduction. The Comptroller and City Manager then met with all department heads to review their budget histories, estimates, programmatic goals, and capital project needs. From these meetings and requests, the City Manager worked with the Comptroller to create a Tentative Budget for review by the Common Council, due October 1. According to New York State law, the Common Council has until December 1 to review, amend and adopt the budget. Failure to do so results in the Tentative Budget becoming by default the City's approved budget. The attached budget reflects several changes by the City Council.

Pandemic Impacts

The economic impact of the Coronavirus has been compared to the Great Depression. Its extraordinary effects on families and businesses are equalled in its impacts on local government budgets, which have suffered terribly, imperiling our ability to provide essential services. This past spring the City's revenue losses were projected at over $5 million for 2020 due to the Pandemic. Revenues for 2020 are now projected to be $2.5 million less than the 2020 adopted budget assumed. The change in Fund Balance projected for 2020 is $1 million. These losses were largely due to declining county sales tax revenues and declining parking meter fees and fines, and compounded by rising expenses, especially extraordinary overtime costs in the Fire Department driven by the need to adopt a new Covid-safe staffing schedule. Adding insult to injury, the federal government has not taken action to provide emergency funding to local governments. State government, facing similar challenges, has reduced annual aid to municipalities by 20% in 2020 and an expected 20% in 2021. This cut in NYS aid reduces the City's revenues by an additional $443,800 per year.

In response to this financial disaster, the Common Council adopted two City Management proposed budget adjustments, one cut $529,000 in expenses, and the second cut $486,000 in expenses from the 2020 adopted budget. Adopted in mid-June, these budget adjustments froze most vacant positions, eliminated overtime spending for non-emergency purposes, cancelled recreational programming and prevented the hiring of dozens of part-time workers. Overall, these budget adjustments reduced 2020 expenses by $1.015 million, but still required the use of an anticipated $1 million in fund balance in 2020 in order to offset lost revenues. These austerity measures are continuing into 2021.

Tax Increase Exceeds NYS 2% Tax Cap

For Peekskill, a NYS tax cap-compliant 2021 budget would be limited to a $200,000 tax levy increase, or a .67% increase in the tax rate. Due to the unavoidable, challenging circumstances brought on by the pandemic, the City of Peekskill is considering raising the tax rate an additional 2.79%, for a 3.46% overall increase relative to the adopted 2020 budget. This would mean an increase of $83.44 for the average taxpayer with a single-family home, or about $6.96 per month.

While this increase may seem minor to some, the City Council and City Manager are keenly aware of the necessity of keeping the tax burden on struggling families and businesses as low as possible, while promoting investment in the city so that the tax burden is shared across a larger tax base.

The City of Peekskill has consistently adopted tax cap-compliant budgets and appeared able to do so again for 2021 until more information became available indicating that parking and other revenues were not rebounding as hoped, that the federal government is not likely to provide funding to local governments, and that the economic effects of the pandemic are likely to continue through 2021.

With the current tax cap formula only allowing Peekskill to increase its tax levy by $200,000, the loss of NYS aid (itself well over double this amount) and diminished projected parking revenues, combined with mandated increases in health insurance, pensions and other costs beyond the control of local government, creates a significant budget gap. The City faces this difficult situation with three basic options: 1) reduce expenses for 2021 by an additional $485,000 (the anticipated losses in parking and related revenues not already factored into the Tentative Budget), 2) add this amount to the tax levy, or 3) add this amount to the use of fund balance.

Reduce Expenses: When the City of Peekskill took dramatic action to curb expenses in 2020 following the onset of the pandemic, it stopped filling vacant positions, eliminated overtime and delayed purchasing needed vehicles and equipment. The 2021 budget has cuts to all city departments, from 5-12% (see notes on General Fund below). Much of this savings is achieved by not filling vacant positions from retirements, further reducing city staffing over staff reductions that took place following the Great Recession that began in 2008. To reduce expenses further would require elimination of positions, putting city staff and the public at unacceptable risk, and/or the elimination of non-mandated programs, such as recreation and youth services, senior nutrition, communications and support for economic development, which would risk derailing the City's strategic interests. These cuts offset cost increases due to rising personnel expenses.

Fund Balance: After building its fund balance over several years, the City of Peekskill plans to draw $1 million from this "rainy day fund" in the 2021 budget to support essential services, thus avoiding a more substantial tax increase. This rate of fund balance use cannot be sustained over the long term, however. The City must maintain some reserves for emergency use.

Tax Increase: The City is considering raising the tax rate an additional 2.79% beyond the .67% tax cap limit, for a 3.46% overall increase relative to the adopted 2020 budget. For the average taxpayer with a single-family home, this translates to roughly an additional $83.44 in taxes, or about $6.96 per month. The City Council cannot vote on a budget in excess of the NYS tax cap without first passing a local law enabling itself to do so, a process that requires a public hearing.

Peekskill, like all local governments, routinely sees mandated personnel costs such as health insurance and pensions, escalate far faster than could possibly be accommodated by increases in spending within the allowable tax cap. The City joins others in proposing to New York State that the tax cap law be adjusted such that capital projects and health costs be exempt from the tax cap calculation, and that properties receiving PILOTS be included in the growth factor calculation. Absent these reforms, and facing escalating personnel costs, without extraordinary growth in other sources of non-tax revenues, even in a "normal" year the City may need to exceed the tax cap to sustain essential services.

Unassigned Fund Balance

Unfortunately, the global Coronavirus pandemic that began this past spring and continues today means 2020 and 2021 are the proverbial "rain days" for which previous administrations have been saving up reserve funds. Thankfully, the unassigned fund balance has grown substantially over the last several years of conservative budgeting, from about $500,000 in 2015 to $4.8 million at the end of 2019. City Management will continue to exercise extraordinary care in expenditures. Nonetheless, the 2021 Budget proposes using a total of $1 million in unassigned fund balance, drawing $250,000 from the Tax Stabilization Fund and $750,000 from the Unreserved, Undesignated Fund. This is almost twice the amount of Fund Balance used in 2019. The fund balance at the end of 2020 is projected to be $4.38 million. This budget forecasts ending 2021 with an unassigned fund balance of $3.5 million.

The Comptroller and City Manager practice conservative fiscal management, meaning expenses are forecast in the a little high, and revenues are forecast a little low. In an average year, the City revenues should slightly exceed the expectations of the adopted budget, while the City expenses should total slightly less than projected in the adopted budget, resulting in a modest growth in unassigned fund balance. Obviously, it remains to be seen how “normal” 2021 turns out to be. City Management closely tracks county sales tax revenues, NYS mandated costs for health care and pensions, and other factors affecting the City budget, and makes adjustments accordingly.

Personnel Costs and Trends

Personnel costs, including benefits, account for almost 80% of expenses in the general fund. The City has about 203 full-time and 22 part-time year around staff, for a total of 225, down from 268 in 2012. In addition, the City routinely hires about 180 part-time temporary staff over the course of the year, mostly in Recreation, Youth Bureau and Public Works. Most full-time staff are unionized, with the exception of management-confidential staff (department heads and certain administrative staff), and all full-time staff enjoy excellent fringe benefits.

Due to the Pandemic and ensuing cost-saving measures, the Budget does not include salary increases for any staff, other than those mandated by previous union contract settlements. These contractual annual salary increases tied to longevity (“steps”) total $244,000 in the 2021 Budget. This number is greater than the total tax increase allowable under the NYS tax cap off $200,000. Another major driver of personnel costs is the mandatory contributions to the State Retirement Fund. The cost of these benefits have flattened in recent years, but are going up significantly in the coming year. The percentage of police and fire salaries that must be paid into the NYS retirement system are going up from 25.6% to 30.4% for police and from 26.8% to 31.4% for fire staff. For other City employees the increases are more modest. In total, these increases in the cost of retirement benefits add an additional $300,000 to the Budget for 2021, versus 2020.

Historically, the City has underfunded the Fire Department overtime salary lines in the hopes of better controlling this cost. However, besides emergency call-ins, which are few, these costs largely derive from two numbers: the minimum number of staff required for a shift and the total available staff. The 2021 Budget adjusts Fire Department staff over-time to be more in line with recent history, boosting the overtime line by $50,000 and adding another $100,000 for “straight-time overtime”, or the City’s “Weekday Fire Staffing” program by which firefighters have worked extra shifts at straight-time costs. In addition, as noted below, the 2021 budget funds two new firefighter positions that, if filled, would help to reduce overtime costs.

Professional Fire Department Manager: The Budget includes $50,000 for either a part-time employee or a consultant to support Fire Department financial, staff and operations management. As noted below, the City Manager, volunteer chiefs and career officers are collaborating on improving the management capacity of the fire department.

New Position in Planning Department: The 2021 budget adds one full-time position, that of an assistant planner in the Planning Department, a position seen as necessary due to the extraordinary amount of public works planning and contracting that will be taking place later in 2021 as a result of the New York State Downtown Revitalization Initiative (DRI). The City won this award in 2019, and a Local Planning Committee made of civic and business leaders has met throughout 2019 and much of 2020, working to refine and prioritize projects for consideration by New York State for funding. From public art to public infrastructure and a new grant and loan program to support local businesses, the DRI creates both great opportunity, and a large growth in administrative workflow in the Planning Department, but also Finance, Public Works and Legal Departments.

New General Foreman Position: The 2021 Budget, as with the 2020 adopted budget, funds a General Foreman position in public works, anticipated to cost about $5000 in additional pay for an existing City employee.

Funded Vacancies: Various City departments are operating with fewer staff than needed and in some cases the positions are funded, but unlikely to be filled in January of 2021 due to delays inherent in the recruitment, hiring and training processes. This includes the Police Department, down five positions, worth $435,000, but also the Fire Department, down two positions, worth $77,000. The City intends to fill these positions, but they are

Unfunded Vacancies: Funding has been removed for 2021 for vacant positions in the Parking Violations Bureau (Clerk), the City Clerk (Office Clerk), the Corporation Counsel (reduction of full-time secretary to part-time secretary), the Recreation Department (Recreation Supervisor), the Building Department (Code Enforcement Officer), and the DPW (Auto Mechanic). Defunding these vacancies has reduced the 2021 Budget by about $425,000. Taken together, the funded and defunded vacancies bring a savings of about $937,000 in 2021.

Leadership Staff Turnover: During the last year, the City has lost several long-serving and experienced leaders to retirement or voluntary separation, including the Superintendent of Recreation, the Assessor, the Clerk, the City Manager, the City Manager's confidential assistant, and recently announced, the Comptroller. While such change can ultimately refresh the organization, and the City continues to attract very talented staff, these changes are also disruptive and time-consuming.

Fund-Based Notes and Assumptions

This section provides notes on specific revenue and expense categories. As a rule, the Budget uses conservative revenue and expense projections based on a five year lookback of actual data, constantly updated monitoring of revenue and expense trends, and knowledge of evolving economic conditions. The Budget also projects expenses pessimistically, so that in an average year the actual expenses will be, overall, less than expected.

General Fund

The General Fund Budget for 2021 is in the total amount of $42,591,000, a decrease over the 2020 Adopted Budget of $79,000.

Sales Tax: The County increased this tax rate by 1% in 2019, an increase set to expire in 2022. While sales tax revenue was severely impacted by the Pandemic, revenues are received periodically throughout the year, indicating a trend line toward recovery.

Real Estate Transfer Tax: The City's real estate sales are strong and likely boosted by the Pandemic as people look for residential alternatives to NYC and the labor market trends slightly toward remote work.

NYS Aid: As mentioned above, this aid was cut by 20% in 2020, and this reduction is likely for 2021 as well.

Recreation Fees: The 2021 Budget assumes a normal year for Recreation, fully funding staff and equipment. This projection may be optimistic from the perspective of the likely resurgence of Coronavirus resulting in program cancellations, but it is conservative in the sense that, because Recreation program costs exceed revenues from program fees, program cancellations result in a positive budget variance.

Building Rental Income: The City is working with all current and potential tenants to negotiate lease agreements with terms that are beneficial to both the tenants and the City.

Section 8 Shared Services: The federal Housing and Urban Development agency which pays for staff and other costs of the Section 8 department has systematically denied reimbursement of costs related to shared services within City Hall. These costs include legal, personnel, IT, cleaning, finance and related necessities. Overall, the Section 8 interfund transfer has been reduced by about 50%. To more consistently reimburse the City for overhead costs, the Section 8 program and City are working out an office space rental agreement.

Consolidated Fee Schedule: The City's Consolidated Fee Schedule is reviewed and approved annually, and includes several hundred fees ranging from small items such as $10 for a birth certificate from the Clerk to larger items such as thousands of dollars for site plan review by the Planning Commission. Most of these fees are the same today as they were in 2016, and perhaps earlier, and therefore overdue for an update.

Building Department Permits: Revenues from permits and fines reflect actual building and enforcement activity and fluctuate from year to year.

Parking Meter Receipts and Fines: Meter receipts are trending upwards since their collapse during the Pandemic and are projected conservatively into 2021 and the parking violations hearings have recently re-started since their elimination this past spring. The City recently added staff for meter enforcement and automated aspects of the enforcement and record keeping systems. Both receipts and fines are projected conservatively into 2021.

Capital Planning: The Budget process includes a five year capital improvement plan that is reviewed and adopted by the Common Council and lists projects that are considered priorities in the coming year, but are not funded. Selected major capital items for consideration in the next few years include: roof, HVAC and kitchen repairs at the Neighborhood Center; a plow truck and a fire truck; and pool pump house renovation. Due to budget constraints, the Budget defers buying any new vehicles in 2021.

Public Relations Services: The 2021 Budget continues funding for public relations professionals both to communicate timely information to residents about City operations, events, storms and other matters, and to spread positive news about the city to foster community pride and economic development. This funding is in part contingent on funding from the Industrial Development Agency for a shared public relations services contract.

Deferred Pension Benefits Payment Plan: Following the Great Recession, the City opted to defer pension payments to the NYS Comptroller from 2012 to 2015. Over the last several years, the total principal amount owed has been reduced to $2,466,268. The payment due on this deferred obligation in 2021 is $457,000. The last payment on this obligation will be made in 2028.

Tax Foreclosures: The City regularly pursues correction of unpaid taxes, through the in rem foreclosure process by which the City can obtain title to tax-delinquent properties and auction them to new owners. Existing owners are always contacted and offered the option of paying off back taxes with an installment plan. Failing this remedy, the City has commenced an action to collect delinquent 2017 real estate taxes. This annual collection of past due taxes not only assures consistent cash flow, but also helps maintain the City's positive financial profile with ratings agencies, resulting in a lower interest rates on municipal debt. The Budget forecasts $300,000 in revenues from an in-rem auction. The last auction was in 2019.

General Debt: The total outstanding City general obligation bond debt at year end 2020 will be $48,655,000. This is a decrease from 2019 of $4,495,000. The 2021 budget includes further payments on debt, bringing the total to $44,055,000 by the end of 2021.

Fire House Debt: Debt on the Central Fire House is repaid from the Restricted Funds-Reserved for Firehouse. This fund is currently accruing funds sufficient to meet the annual debt service as a result of a strong real estate market in the city and the City's Real Estate Transfer Tax, created to pay off the Central Fire House debt. The 2021 Budget includes the use of $1,051,000 from this reserve fund to pay debt service. This fund balance at year end 2021 will be approximately $4,100,000.

Unassigned Fund Balance: The 2021 Budget includes the use of $250,000 of Committed Funds- Designated for Tax Stabilization, leaving a balance in that fund of $223,000, and $750,000 from the Undesignated Fund Balance (see discussion of Fund Balance above).

Water Fund

The Water Fund budget for 2021 is $7,770,000. The Water Fund budget proposes a 2% increase reflecting the need for ongoing repairs and upgrades to the distribution system, and adequate reserves. Despite this increase, water charges are comparable to those of other Westchester County municipalities. In the coming year the Department plans upgrades to the Hollowbrook Dam system using both grant and County capital funds as well as the demolition and replacement of a century old water tank.

Sewer Fund

The Sewer Fund budget for 2021 is $1,726,000, reflecting a proposed 2% increase, addressing the costs of maintenance and repair of aging infrastructure. The Department routinely applies for grants to support capital projects.

Overall Economic Development Outlook

In recent years, the City of Peekskill has seen improved financial ratings from Moody's and increasing overall assessed value. The housing construction activity in the downtown area continues apace despite the Pandemic with several major affordable housing and market rate projects either in construction or in the pipeline. Notable examples include the affordable housing project at 645 Main Street and the "The Abbey", a luxury boutique inn, spa and catering facility created through the redevelopment of the former chapel and convent at Fort Hill. The Downtown Revitalization Initiative will bring many exciting projects, both public and private, over the next few years, improving infrastructure, amenities and business growth.

Vacant housing inventory is low as, anecdotally, available residences are quickly bought or rented by people seeking an alternative to New York City's high rents and high population density. The Pandemic has forced many people and businesses to adopt remote workplace technologies, freeing some people from daily commuting to the metro area, resulting in temporary and permanent relocation outside New York City.

In 2019, the City's bond rating agency, Moody's, upgraded Peeskill's financial rating from A1 to Aa3, translating into lower bond interest rates on debt to fund capital projects. The New York State Comptroller's office recently reported that Peekskill continues its status as "undesignated," or in very good condition, with regard to fiscal and environmental stress factors, based on 2019 year end data.

In the midst of these developments, the City has leveraged its own land holdings to promote appropriate development. These projects include several major affordable, mixed and market rate housing developments. The proposed affordable housing project on Lower South Street will be close to transit options and involve sale of City land currently used for temporary storage of public works vehicles and materials. The need to relocate City activities has triggered a pressing need to plan the future use of the city's land at 9-11 Corporate Drive, the old City landfill that has development potential for both private and public sector uses, including the possible site of a new DPW facility. Were the DPW to move, further City lands on Lower South Street would become available for redevelopment. In a related matter, the redevelopment of the vacant Centennial Fire House on Washington Street for a food business incubator is in the planning stages, with positive interest from both public and private sector investors.

The City's overall improving economic conditions are reflected in the Tax Assessment Roll. The average home in Peekskill is assessed at $8,800. The roll is updated annually and serves as the basis for subsequent year taxation. As the country and region recovered from the mortgage crisis and Great Recession, the Roll showed marked improvement in 2016. In 2019, the Roll increased by $298,312 to $63,008,534. The roll has continued to gain value, reaching $63,317,000 as of August 2020. This upward trend reflects the interest in the City from prospective residents, businesses and investors, and especially reflects the City's location near New York City and various amenities and building inventory. The efforts of the Tax Assessor office to verify proper assessment of all parcels and scrutinize any requests for assessment reductions also helps maintain a growing Roll. However, as real estate values increase, concerns over access to affordable housing grow, even as the City has a relatively high proportion of affordable housing in existence and proposed for construction.

What to Expect in 2021

In 2021, despite the economic difficulties and need to reduce spending, the City has exciting strategic projects to continue and undertake. A few of these include:

Downtown Revitalization Initiative - This project is culminating in submission of about $14 million in grant requests, both public and private, to New York State. Projects, if approved by NYS, range from an overhaul of the Field Library, to public infrastructure, to new cultural amenities and private development in the downtown area. New York State will start making funding decisions in the early part of 2021, and a transformative process of investment in the downtown will unfold over the next few years.

DPW Yard and Garage relocation and improvement feasibility analysis - As noted above, the Parkview project on Lower South Street requires the relocation of some DPW facilities, triggering a broader planning process to evaluate the current DPW assets, and the highest and best use of the City's lands on Lower South Street and 9-11 Corporate Drive. The City's Industrial Development Agency is taking a more active role in promoting local economic development and will participate in any planning and redevelopment of these properties.

Expense Reduction Project - Working with a consultant, the Finance Department is working with all City departments to identify cost savings opportunities, often through renegotiating contractual services contracts. This process is already bearing fruit in the form of reduced costs for elevator inspections, and the project is just getting started. The consultant is only paid as a percentage of any savings actually obtained.

Fire Department Management Initiative - Career and Volunteer firefighters have been meeting with the City Manager to identify new ways of working together to improve fire safety, volunteer retention, and operations. Activities so far include a new joint training schedule for volunteers and career officers, upgrading of software tools for tracking and analyzing operations, investment in new safety equipment, engagement with career fire chiefs from neighboring cities and towns for management insights, and the reactivation of the City's fire inspection and fire code enforcement program. The 2021 budget includes funds for updating the Department's Standard Operating Procedures and for paying professional fire management on a consulting basis.

Police Reform Taskforce - The City welcomes the new state mandate to undertake systematic review of police operations in pursuit of the highest standard of professional integrity and safety for Peekskill diverse residents and police personnel. This process is underway to meet a deadline of presenting recommendations for local police operations reform to the Common Council by April of 2021.

Food Business Incubator Project - Mentioned above, this project, in its conceptual stage, would redevelop the vacant fire house on Washington Street as a site for multiple food businesses to lease commercial kitchen space and share resources related to business management.

Oakwood Drive - This project is partially grant funded, and plans new storm drains, pavement, curbs and sidewalks, including ADA compliant structures.

Community Development Block Grant program - the City has opted to join the county program and looks forward to obtaining funds for several important water infrastructure projects and supporting local nonprofit agencies with improved access to funds for human needs.

Sustainable Energy - As the Honeywell Project is complete, the City is in a strong position to manage its energy consumption with new controls over heating and cooling systems. In the meantime, the City is working with the New York Power Authority to identify more locations for solar panels, and participating in both Sustainable Westchester green power, and the PACE energy efficiency finance program for construction projects.

Trees and Food Waste - For the first time in years, the Budget includes a modest investment in shade tree planting ($5000). Notably, the county has committed to paying for the transport of food waste from drop-off centers, and the City will be exploring this program option in 2021.

Conclusion

The City must continue to find ways to reduce costs and attract new sources of revenues. The City must also continue to support existing and new business survival and growth to expand the tax base to lighten the burden on residential tax payers.

Lastly, I would like to thank the entire City workforce, along with all the volunteers serving in the fire department and in boards and commissions, for their dedication in carrying out their duties. I look forward to working with the Common Council to adopt 2021 budget by the December 1 NYS deadline.

Respectfully submitted on this 1st day of November, 2020,
